I will miss you, Ben. I tried so hard to impress you when I married your oldest daughter, Carol. I was young, a free spirit and didn't even know where I was going. Your family became my family over the years. I never knew if I impressed you after 46 years of marriage and dedication to your oldest and most beautiful daughter, but I know you excepted me and built memories with me and your grandkids. I will miss you Ben. I hope in your last moments you looked up and saw our redeemer, and are now reading books at the feet of our Lord. I love you.
