What can I say there's too many memories to tell. One in particular stands out. The time you were in grade school and took one of dad's Ace bandages to school put it on your arm and told the teacher you had been in a car accident. Poor woman was checking the news paper for information on the accident. There's a lot of things I will miss about you, but most of all that one of a kind little boy laugh you still had. We didn't always agree but we always loved each other and found our way back to each other. I love you Danny always and forever.

No matter what the past holds, one thing is for certain and that is the fact that you are loved and already dearly missed. I'm so thankful that we had the chance to reconnect this summer. I wish we were getting to know Dovie under different circumstances, but please know that she will not be without family and friends who care. Uncle Danny, I'm also thankful that you are no longer in any pain, and the last memory I have of you will always be when you posted "Happy Birthday!! Love you" on my Facebook wall 12/25/19. Give everyone up there my love. Rest in heaven...until we meet again.
