Dave Ward sent a virtual gift in honor of Daniel.

Dan and I meet years ago at work. We became good friends then more like family. Dan and my wife (Bobbi) had the same birthday. So every year we would meet up at the eagles for drinks. I started racing and Dan would try and talk me in to racing on pavement. Every time I tell him the same thing. Brother pavement is for getting to the races. We would laugh and go on having a great time together. We us both having health issues we didn't get to hang out anymore but we kept in touch phone calls,text. I'm going miss you brother but your in a better place. If I could drink,I would have a drink for all the great memories we had together. Pavement is for driving,dirt is for racing. We miss you brother. Until we meet again keep the sticky side down
