Becka, Jason, family and friends: the Delossantos family would like express our deep, heartfelt sympathy for the loss of your dear son. When you were living at your grandma Taylor's home, I would drop off nathan after picking him up at school. I would see Jeremiah watching TV or interacting with our grandkids. Jeremiah had the biggest smile and of course a head full of red hair like Nathan. Jeremiah would watch the boys as they read, did homework, play with great interest and enjoyed their company. Dylan decided he wanted to become a nurse because of your son, helping and assisting you and witnessing how patient, kind, loving you were with Jeremiah. For this I am ever grateful. Becka, you have such a beautiful heart, gentle soul, who has a deep love of her child. Your eyes would always light up upon seeing Jeremiah when you came into the room. Our love and prayers surround you. May God bless you, Jason, family, and walk with you at this sad time. "I said a prayer for you today. I prayed that God would lift you up in his hand, comfort you with His love, wipe every tear from your eyes, and strengthen you to face the day. I prayed that God would remind you that you're never alone, and you're loved more than you can imagine- by Him, by me." May your precious memories of Jeremiah live forever in your hearts. Love Johnny, Marge, and John Delossantos.
