Lonnie was a skilled carpenter. He and his brother, Charles established Draffen Contracting, a company specializing in residential construction and renovation. The two worked side-by-side for 45 years.

Lonnie enjoyed the simple things in life. He enjoyed spending time with Erma on their pontoon. He enjoyed listening to country music. He loved watching basketball. He loved doing home renovation projects to help family. His work is on display in just about every family members home and this work will be a constant reminder of the caring and giving man that he was. He will be dearly missed by his family and those who knew him.
